Finally, the bill requires the Court of Claims to use a specific method of computing invested capital—assuming the taxpayer has overpaid his taxes—to be heard in 1900. Taxpayer's amount arrives at the Court of Claims for $1898 through 1920. The year 1917 was not involved in that settlement, nor, as the Court of Claims indicated in its 1939 decision, "does the action taken with respect to subsequent years constitute conclusive proof as to 1917." Even assuming the desirability of granting jurisdiction to the Court of Claims for this year, it does not seem desirable to preclude the court from determining the correct tax liability for the year.

Since the proposed legislation would be retroactive and would single out a particular taxpayer for relief from the statute of limitations without adequate reason therefor, and since it would prejudice the Court of Claims from determining the correct tax liability, I feel constrained to withhold my approval of S. 3304.

CONTRACTS BETWEEN GOVERNMENT AND COMMON CARRIERS

S. 906. I have withheld my approval of S. 906, to establish the finality of contracts between the Government and common carriers of passengers and freight subject to the Interstate Commerce Act.

This legislation provides that rates established under the provisions of section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act, when accepted or agreed to by the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of Agriculture, or the Administrator of General Services, or by any official or employee to whom the authority is delegated by the respective statute, are conclusively presumed to be just, reasonable, and otherwise lawful. The statute of limitations for such contracts entered into after the date of enactment of this bill, the after the date of acceptance or agreement upon any grounds except actual fraud or deceit, or clerical mistake.

The determination of what is a just, reasonable, or otherwise lawful rate on interstate shipments is now vested in the Interstate Commerce Commission. All shippers, including the Government, are bound as a matter of contract in determining the true tax liability, I feel constrained to withhold my approval of S. 3304.

On September 2, 1954:

FOREIGN-PRODUCED TROUT

S. 2033. I am withholding my approval from S. 2033, "for the relief of T. C. Elliott."

The purpose of this enactment is to pay to T. C. Elliott, of Daytona Beach, Fla., the sum of $15,000 as compensation for his services in preparing and furnishing certain information to Members of Congress. The bill provides that payment authorized shall be free of Federal income tax.

This bill is faulty for two reasons. First, the exemption of the award from all Federal income taxes is totally unwarranted. The record demonstrates that the sum to be paid is not true compensation, but a monetary award for special services.

The claimant, T. C. Elliott, was an employee of the Federal Government from November 1, 1900, until his retirement, January 31, 1944. During this period of employment Mr. Elliott was an auditor in the Navy Department, the Treasury Department, and the General Accounting Office. In such a position he became conversant with freight rates and transportation rates. The record data on these subjects on many occasions to individual Members of Congress and to various committees of the Congress.

It is conceded that Mr. Elliott, in addition to performing his regular duties, rendered valuable service to Members of Congress. His efforts undoubtedly contributed to a saving to the Government of large sums of money, but the record is also clear that these services were rendered by Mr. Elliott voluntarily, after office hours, on his own time, or on his leave time, and were completely aside from his official duties or the requirements of his office. Mr. Elliott, like thousands of other devoted Government employees, is to be commended for the unselfish manner in which he made his knowledge of freight rates available to others.

Each year there accrue to the Government the benefits resulting from extraordinarv services rendered by interested private citizens and organizations who volunteer much useful information and assistance to the Congress, to individual Members, and to the executive branch agencies as well. I do not believe that claims for compensation for such volunteer services should be encouraged and the purpose would ratify an irregular and unformalized employment relation, and would also place the Congress and the executive agencies in an unacceptable and unhonourable position. Such services are to be on a regular or recurring or even a sporadic basis, formal arrangements for employment should be made. There are numerous alternatives. A regular full-time or part-time appointment, appointment as a consultant at a per diem or an hourly rate, and performance of work by contract are the most common. If the service is performed outside of a formal employment relationship, whatever recognition may be given to it should not be considered compensation.

I do not want my action in withholding approval of this bill to be construed as derogation of Mr. Elliott's services or as criticism of recognition by the Congress of special services afforded to its Members. While I cannot approve the bill in its present form for the reasons given above, I shall be glad to approve a bill which is by its terms an extraordinary monetary award for special service and which removes the tax-free status of the award.

broken while held for sale, each unit for sale consisting of one or more trout would have to be in a separate package.

2. Each such package would have to be clearly and conspicuously stamped or labeled, in type or lettering of specified size, with the word "trout" preceding by the name of the country in which such trout was produced.

3. It would be unlawful for any restaurateur or other public eating place to possess, in a form ready for serving, any foreign-produced trout unless the restaurateur or eating place displayed prominently and conspicuously a notice stating that "trout served in this restaurant," with the name of the country of origin inserted in the blank space.

According to the committee reports, the bill has the three-fold purpose of (1) protecting the public and consumer against deceptive and unfair acts and practices by requiring truthful disclosure of the origin of the trout being sold, (2) protecting our domestic trout producers against unfair competition from foreign producers of trout, and (3) protecting our source of supply for stocking our streams with game trout.

It is claimed that in recent years certain merchants and restaurants have indulged in the practice of serving imported trout to restaurant patrons and other consumers as Rocky Mountain trout from Rainbow River or under other descriptive names which, to the consumer, indicate their domestic origin. If domestic trout producers are deprived of this market, it is feared that they may be unable to continue their other important function of supplying ground trout, Rocky Mountain rainbow trout, or other trout for restocking our streams of the sportsman-angler.

Fraud and deception in the marketing or name of food or any other product cannot, of course, be condoned. I am convinced, however, that to the extent that the provisions and sanctions of the bill properly influence Federal functions, they are unnecessary to prevent fraud and deception. The Tariff Act and the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act already provide for necessary labeling of imported products. Furthermore, the provisions of S. 2033 are discriminatory and oppressive against foreign trade, and to a very substantial extent they would invade a field of regulation and enforcement which I believe should be left to the States and localities. Finally, the costs of enforcement would be out of all proportion to funds available to the Food and Drug Administration for vital functions affecting the health of the American people.
